John Pegram has indicated that he'd like to have as much material (in the way of names and titles) as possible for inclusion in the advance program sheet by March 6th or so.

1. Can you advise whether or not Prof. Doob has accepted.

2. How is the search for the keynote speaker coming? If your other possibilities fall through, perhaps Blair Clark, a trustee of the Harvard Network might be considered. He spoke at their alumni banquet and made quite an impression. Clark graduated from Harvard in Jack Kennedy's class, is 43 years old (Time, February 10, 1961, p. 66), is general manager and vice president of the C.B.C. news division, replacing John F. Day, 47.

Feel free to *phone me if the need arises.
